II.

The two parties agree that the position of State property utilised for the service of the Polish State, by virtue of the provisions of the treaties in force, shall be determined in the same manner as the position of railway property under paragraph 11 of the High Commissioner's decision of September 5th, 1921.

The Polish State shall not be subject to Danzig jurisdiction in respect of the above-mentioned property, belonging to it on Danzig territory, except in regard to any real property charges for which such property is liable.

III.

The two parties agree that the Polish authorities, acting within their special sphere of competence, and Polish officials in the territory of the Free City, shall receive the same treatment as Danzig authorities and officials performing similar duties.

IV.

The two parties agree that Polish officials in Danzig territory shall only be responsible, in regard to the performance of their duties, to their Polish superiors and shall not be under the Danzig authorities.

Should a Polish official be arrested by the Danzig authorities, one of the higher Polish officials shall be notified.

V.

The two parties agree that the Polish Government archives and offices at Danzig shall be inviolable.

VI.

The two parties agree that the Polish diplomatic representative at Danzig shall appoint his own staff for the purposes laid down in the treaties in force. He shall submit to the Danzig Government a list of the names and positions of his staff, both diplomatic, administrative, and subordinate. Any employees of the Polish diplomatic representative who do not possess diplomatic status shall be treated in accordance with the provisions of Articles 3 and 4 above.

The Polish diplomatic representative at Danzig shall be entitled to appoint as a member of his diplomatic staff the head of the Polish Postal and Telegraphic Service at Danzig and the head of the Polish Customs at Danzig.

VII.

The two parties agree to open the negotiations provided for in paragraphs 2 and 4 of the High Commissioner's decision of December 6th, 1921, at the earliest possible date.

ANNEX 354.
C. 312. M. 155. 1922. XII.

NOMINATION OF A COMMITTEE ON INTELLECTUAL CO-OPERATION.

At its sixteenth session the Council decided, on January 14th, 1922, "in accordance with the resolution of the Second Assembly dated September 21st, 1921, to constitute a Committee of twelve members, which should include women and which will be entrusted with the examination of international questions regarding intellectual co-operation." It was understood that the composition of the Committee and the date on which it should be convened would be decided at a later date.
The Council has, therefore, now to nominate this Committee. It has decided to invite the following eleven persons to serve:

The nomination of the twelfth member of the Committee has been reserved for the present:

The members of the Committee might be asked to meet in Geneva for the first time on August 1st, 1922.

ANNEX 355.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

Statement by Dr Nansen, Norwegian Representative, before the Council on May 16th, 1922.

A day or two ago the Council was good enough to hear the report which I had to make on the work we have been doing for Russian refugees. I now wish, on behalf of my Government, to draw the attention of the Council to another part of the Russian problem. I have no hesitation in bringing this proposal to the same session of the Council which has dealt with the problem of the Russian refugees, for, to my mind, the proposal which I am to bring forward to-day and the work for the refugees are but two aspects of one great problem — the problem of the reconstruction of Russia — and I venture to think that both aspects of this problem merit the deep and serious consideration of the Council of the League. The part of the great Russian people in the history of civilisation is not yet at an end. In making the proposal which I am about to lay before you, my Government is not in any way inspired by motives that could be called
